Reflection

Is he really ‘out of his mind?’

It is easy to admire individuals we think live an incredible, exciting life. We think of adventurers like astronauts, politicians and mega-stars who might be rich and famous, leading an attractive lifestyle. It seems like we'd be crazy not to want to live this kind of life. On the other hand, we disregard people who are zealous about their opinions and their way of life. We think of people who are negatively different, people who are “obsessive” about their religion, people who knock on our doors to talk about following Jesus, individuals who go on fasts for the defense of others and those who point out there are folks who live on the margins, who need help and not just our money. These are the people whom invite us to live our faith and can at times make us feel uncomfortable.

In our Gospel from Mark today, we see that Jesus' life was not easy by any stretch of the imagination. People didn't like what he said or how he lived. Even his own family was embarrassed by him and wanted to take him away from the crowds. His family were those who are either related by blood or are close to Jesus. Not everyone close to him liked how he lived or what he preached. They wanted and pressured him to stop. In the middle of this, Jesus tells us through parables that all our sins will be forgiven unless we decide that Jesus is of the devil or has an unclean spirit; this will never be forgiven.

The very last verses of this gospel are perhaps the most important. Here, Jesus expands the idea of who his family is: it is not just blood relatives but “whoever does the will of God is my brother and sister and mother.” When you come to Mass today, look around the church: all of us, you and me, are Jesus' brothers and sisters by doing the will of God. We are related by the Blood of the Lord Jesus which is given to and for us and we are related as the Body of Christ to do the will of God. As St. Paul writes in our Second Reading, “we too believe and we speak.” By speaking, we put our faith into action.

We are called to follow this so-called crazy person from Nazareth who some said was possessed by a demon, to share our faith with others by how we live our very lives. So how do we do this? Here are some suggestions: you and your family members or even your friends can come down to St. Angela's on a Saturday morning and volunteer with Bread of Angels to help serve and give breakfast to the poor. Don't just silently give them a plate; smile at them, talk with them and let them tell you their story, or volunteer at Orange County's Catholic Worker; occatholicworker.org; 714-835-6304. The Catholic Worker houses and feeds those on the margins and helps them find their way. There are a lot of things you and your family can do to help.

These are things we can accomplish, through the guidance of the Holy Spirit, to actively follow the will of God. If you'd like to talk about other ideas, you can contact me at mshaffer@rcbo.org or call the parish office and leave a message for me. You can also contact Fr. Dave, Fr. Francis, Dcn. Ben or any of our staff members. Get involved -- live our faith!

Blessings,
Deacon Mike

Pastoral Services Appeal, PSA

Our Pastoral Services Appeal is off to a great start! Thank you to all who have already made their pledge to this important campaign. Through PSA our Diocese is able to fund the needs of Parishes and schools in our area, as well as support ministries outside of the Parishes like Detention and Restoration Ministry, Seminarian Formation, Catholic Charities and many more. Please prayerfully consider your donation to St. Angela Merici's PSA appeal. Remember every dollar over our goal of $104,000 comes directly back to our parish, but more importantly "We are One Body" called to serve. Your participation with any dollar amount is greatly appreciated. You can use the envelopes in the pews of the church to donate or you can go on line to <https://orangecatholicfoundation.org/psa/> and scroll down to the donation box. We are one body in Christ and part of the body of Christ needs our help. Thank you for your generosity.

Put together basic emergency kits for people who may not be able to do so for themselves or for those who may not think of doing it for themselves. Show them what is in the kit and talk to them about disasters.

Make sure the kit meets their specific needs. For instance, if someone takes prescription medicine, include a list of medications and dosages. For a college student, make sure the kit is small enough to store in the space they have available.

College Students:

Talk to your college student about how you will stay in touch if a disaster occurs. Make sure they understand that cell phones may not work during a disaster. Choose an emergency contact who does not live near you or the college. Arrange with your student to call that person if they can't reach you during a disaster.

Visit the website for your student's college to find out about the school's disaster plans and procedures. Some colleges will provide a phone number that you can call in an emergency. If you don't find the number on the website, call the admissions office and ask. Add the number to your emergency contact list. Make sure your student knows to call you if there is an emergency on campus. Also, ensure your student is registered for any emergency notification system on their campus.

Insurance:

Talk to your insurance agent to find out if your policy covers your student's belongings while they are away at school. You may need to buy an additional renter's policy. Also check with your health insurance carrier to find out where your student can find covered healthcare at school.
